Please read the following conditions and initial after each.

- (2) Our program does not maintain a stockpile of equipment. The availability of any Army equipment for use as a static display is very limited as most pieces come from organizations that are closing or combining with others. As such, there is an extensive wait time of, potentially, several years. _____ (Initial)

- (3) Requests made by organizations that are not in compliance with the terms or conditions of previous donations received from this office will not be processed until compliance issues are resolved. _____ (Initial)

- (4) Multiple factors are assessed when determining how equipment is distributed to qualified organizations. - (5) Combat Material issued to your organization may not be transferred to or displayed on private property. _____ (Initial)

- (6) Organizations are responsible for all costs regarding static display equipment, which can potentially exceed several thousand dollars. The possible costs include all release, demilitarization, display site preparation and transportation fees associated with the conditional loan of display equipment as well as the maintenance of the piece throughout the duration of the donation. _____ (Initial)

- (7) Organizations are responsible for the long-term maintenance of any static equipment they are issued as well as all costs incurred providing that maintenance (examples: paint, labor, restoration, etc.). _____ Initial

DEFINITION OF A MUSEUM

Title 10 USC § 2572 (a) (4) authorizes the Secretary of the Army to provide certain combat materiel to incorporated museums that are operated and maintained for educational purposes only, and the charters of which deny them the right to operate for profit. Items are for static display only and are donated, with conditions, to established museums.

In accordance with the US Code of Federal Regulations, 41 CFR Section 101-44.207 Paragraph (16), as supplemented by Secretary of the Army-approved procedures, 6 March 1998, the definition of a museum is as follows:

Museum means a public or private nonprofit institution which is organized on a permanent basis essentially for educational or esthetic purposes and which, using a professional staff, owns or uses tangible objects, whether animate or inanimate; cares for these objects; and exhibits them to the public on a regular basis either free or at a nominal charge. (Regular basis is defined as the objects being available for general public viewing at least 1,000 hours per year). The term "museum" includes, but is not limited to, the following institutions if they satisfy all other provisions of this section: Aquariums and zoological parks; botanical gardens and arboretums; museums relating to art, history, natural history, science and technology; and planetariums. An institution uses a professional staff if it employs full-time at least one qualified staff member who devotes his or her time primarily to the acquisition, care and public exhibition of objects owned or used by the institution.

A nonprofit institution is a tax-exempt activity. No part of the net earnings benefit any private shareholder or individual, and the institution is tax-exempt under the provisions of Section 501(c)3 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

This definition of a museum does not include any institution which exhibits objects to the public if the display or use of the objects is incidental to the primary function of the institution. For example, an institution which is engaged primarily in the sale of antiques, objects d'art, or other artifacts and which incidentally provides displays to the public of animate or inanimate objects, either free or at a nominal charge, does not qualify as a museum. This includes institutions which store and maintain objects for periodic use such as parades, fly-ins, air shows, battle re-enactments or other special events which incidentally display objects when not in use.

Does the museum meet all requirements outlined in this definition? ___ Yes ___ No
